Our Teaching Philosophy

Every lesson experience at the Wynwood School of Music will include Technique, Music Literacy, and Repertoire. Using this three-step method guarantees steady long-term growth for every student:

1. Technique - Scales, Arpeggios, Speed Bursts, Warmups
 - a. Technical exercises and warmups slowly build a student's strength and speed. Exercises will be assigned depending on students' needs and new exercises will be given regularly.
2. Music Literacy - Reading, Chords, Improvising, Ear Training, Music Theory
 - a. Reading: If a student chooses to learn how to read music, they will be set up with resources during each lesson.
 - b. Note Knowledge + Improvisation: If a student chooses not to read music, they study the theory behind chords and scales, and slowly learn how to incorporate improvisation and soloing into their playing.
 - c. Ear Training: Students will develop their aural skills, slowly gaining the ability to play songs by ear. Vocal students will learn to harmonize.
3. Repertoire - Songs/Compositions you enjoy listening and playing along to
 - a. Teachers will use songs that their students love to play as a practical application for the skills they learn in their lessons. Teachers will work together with students to select songs by artists who inspire them.

Lesson Notes

Teachers will recap the lesson with the student during the last 5 minutes of each lesson. Here they will create a plan for the week's practice schedule, summarize the takeaways from the lesson, and set expectations for the following week. Lesson notes are monitored by the WSM Team and teachers are provided with ongoing professional development.
